NEW INTERMEDIATED TECHNOLOGY HEAD FOR COMMERCIAL INSURANCE

Sydney, 18 February 2009 – Suncorp Commercial Insurance is pleased to announce the appointment of Warren Joslin to the role of Executive Manager Intermediated Distribution Technology.

In his 14 years with the company, Mr Joslin has had extensive experience in relationship management, most recently in the role of Broker Partner Leader in the Intermediary Partnerships team.

Anthony Day, Executive General Manager Intermediated Distribution, said Mr Joslin is an asset to the management team.

“In this new role Warren will be responsible for leading our technology strategy which is aimed at delivering innovative distribution solutions and service to our brokers,” Mr Day said.

“With both strategic and operational expertise, and an in-depth understanding of the broker market, Warren is well-placed to deliver on our key technology initiatives.”

“One of our key priorities for 2009 is to introduce a new web portal where brokers can access all our online quoting and policy administration systems with a single login,” Mr Day said.

“With the right people in the right places we will continue to enhance our partnerships with our brokers for mutual success.”
