

Vero Profin

Management Liability Insurance

These days it's not just directors of large public companies who are exposed to personal liability for breaches of the duties they owe. Directors and officers of private companies are also at risk. A simple act, error or omission can be enough to spark a claim against you or your company. Even when you act in good faith.

Because we're specialists in management liability insurance, we understand the exposures you face. Designed for small and medium sized private companies, our package policy covers directors and officers liability and protects your company against liability for wrongful acts.

Make sure you are insured with the experts. Talk to your broker today.
