

media release

VERO SUPPORTS YOUNG TALENT IN THE INSURANCE INDUSTRY

Sydney, 14 January 2009 – Celebrating, encouraging and supporting the “up and coming stars” of the insurance industry is something Vero has been proudly doing for 19 years. This year, Vero has raised the stakes for the NIBA Warren Tickle Memorial Award by making it bigger and better than ever before!

For the first time, Vero has enhanced the prize for Australia’s best young insurance broker with a trip for two to London to experience the international insurance market with five nights accommodation, a three-day education program and spending money.

Anthony Day, Vero’s Executive General Manager Intermediated Distribution, said that the NIBA Warren Tickle Memorial Award gives Vero a chance to recognise the insurance industry leaders of tomorrow for their commitment to the industry, professionalism, and contribution to the community.

“In previous years the entrants have been outstanding and it has always been a difficult decision to judge the State finalists and National winner. By offering a prize that supports a young broker in the development and improvement of their careers, we hope to see a record number of entrants this year,” Mr Day said.

State finalists attend a two-day personal development workshop in Sydney and will also be flown to the annual NIBA convention where the National winner will be announced.

“Our winners from the past have said that the whole process was a very fulfilling and worthwhile experience. I encourage all aspiring, ambitious and talented young brokers to submit their entries for this year’s award,” Mr Day said.

All nominations should be sent to education@nibacollege.com.au by Monday 27 April 2009. For more information and full nomination criteria, call (02) 9459 4300.

- ENDS -

media release

For further information please contact:

Candice Lothian
Communications Advisor
Phone: 02 8121 9252
Email: candice.lothian@suncorp.com.au