Two brownouts result in extensive damage to computer server equipment

Loss details

Nature of business

Graphic design and offset printing

Type of equipment

2 computer servers and associated equipment.

Early one morning there were two short power outages. Following the subsequent return of power, the Insured noticed that two interlinked computer servers and associated equipment were found to be faulty.

The Insured contacted the electricity supplier who denied responsibility. Further investigation confirmed there had been substantial damage to the internal disk drives, memory and internal components of the motherboard.

All of the damaged equipment was considered beyond repairable and the Insured opted to replace the damaged equipment with a larger single replacement server.

Final loss

New replacement single server $39,000
